

Report Progress in Efforts to Halt Two Major Strikes

Electrical Blackout in Southern Michigan Averted Today

(By The Associated Press)
Progress was reported today toward heading off threatened shutdowns in two large New Jersey industries, and an agreement between a power company and its union employees virtually had dissipated the menace of an electrical blackout in southern Michigan.

The two New Jersey firms, both with large defense contracts, were the Aluminum Company of America plant at Edgewater, and the Thomas A. Edison, Inc. Industries, with three plants in the state and one in Pennsylvania.

C. I. O. employees of the Aluminum company empowered their leaders to call a strike unless the company meets wage demands, but union President Vincent McKenna declared "the strike will not be called unless our demands are flatly refused."

Spokesmen for the Edison company and the C. I. O. Electrical, Radio & Machine Workers reported "progress" last night after a conference on the union's demands for a closed shop, wage increases, and overtime pay for Saturday and Sunday work.

The threatened strike against the Consumers Power Company, which serves 2,000,000 southern Michigan residents, appeared definitely headed off as A. F. of L. electrical workers began balloting on ratification of an agreement calling for a wage increase and a preferential shop. The Grand Rapids local ratified the agreement unanimously, and union leaders predicted other locals would follow suit.

Broadcasts "Grievances"
In another labor development, union President R. J. Thomas outlined in a radio address last night the grievances he said prompted the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers to file notice of intent to strike at three Ford motor factories in the Detroit area.

Thomas declared the Ford Company has "no seniority system... no recognized, democratic grievance machinery... no machinery for discussing the speed up which overtaxes men's strength and makes them old at forty."

Ford spokesmen previously have denied most of the union contentions expressed by Thomas.

A recess last night halted negotiations at Washington to settle strikes of the C. I. O.-Farm Equipment Workers organizing committee at four Illinois and Indiana plants of the International Harvester Company.

Game Wardens Assigned to "Foreign" Districts

Springfield, Ill., March 8.—(AP)—State Conservation Director Livingston E. Osborne announced today the adoption of a policy by which state game wardens will be assigned to territories other than their home counties to "eliminate political influence."

Osborne outlined the new policy in calling upon the civil service commission to supply him with an additional 25 investigators from its eligible lists.

"The assignment of investigators to territories other than their home counties will not only eliminate political influence but friendship ties which in the past have proven a handicap to law enforcement," Osborne said.

"We believe this policy will go a long way toward attaining the goal, pledged to sportsmen by Governor Green, of a conservation program free of political entanglements."

Former King Carol Says All He Wants is 'Rest'

Lisbon, Portugal, March 8.—(AP)—In the first interview he has granted the press since he abdicated the throne of Rumania last September, former King Carol asserted today he was very grateful to Portugal for giving him asylum.

"I want to rest," the ex-ruler said.

Signs of the worry and anxiety of recent months were clearly marked on Carol's face although he gave the impression that he was far from downhearted.

He seems to have lost weight. His London-made dark brown suit hangs loosely on him—but he wears his usual confident smile and keeps his chin up when standing. He displays fatigue only when he is sitting.

State Pay Checks Issued to 45,724 People Last Month

Springfield, Ill., March 8.—(AP)—The state of Illinois issued pay checks during February to 45,724 men and women, including 23,510 full-time employees, it was disclosed in a payroll report issued at the office of Auditor Arthur C. Lueder.

Although no amounts were given as to total salary payments to the nearly 46,000 employees, 22-254 of whom were listed as part-time workers in the division of highways, official sources said the payrolls of all branches of the state government approximated $40,000,000 last year.

The auditor's report, which was the first by any official state agency in several years, did not give any comparative figures. However, Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, veteran member of the state assembly, said the report indicated to him that the number of state workers had increased "substantially" in the past decade.

He said the number of employees was approximately 32,000 during the Republican administration of the late Governor Louis L. Emmerson ended in 1932.

Most in Code Departments
Of the 23,510 full-time employees, all but 1,518 were listed as jobholders in the 10 code departments under jurisdiction of the governor. The 1,518 were employed in the offices of the other constitutional state officers—lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, treasurer, auditor, superintendent of public instruction, and clerk of the Supreme court.

The February payroll total, said aides of Auditor Lueder, was reduced somewhat because of dismissals since the beginning of Governor Dwight H. Green's administration on January 13. Approximately 500 dismissals were announced by the governor.

Seattle Blacked Out All Traffic "Frozen" in First Defensive Test

Seattle, March 8.—(AP)—All the lights of Seattle—Well, nearly all of them—flicked off for 15 minutes last night in the first defensive blackout test for a major American city, but that didn't black out the festive spirit of most of the city's 400,000 residents.

The experiment went off on schedule, with almost complete cooperation of all the citizens and without reported accidents.

Thousands paraded the downtown streets, shouting and whistling for the "duration." Hundreds knotted before a hotel and yelled a warning to the one guest who had neglected to douse his room lights. Movie patrons deserted the shows for the quarter-hour to join the joyous jostlers, then returned to their seats.

There were no traffic mishaps. All automobiles within the city were stopped and those entering

Only Military Activity in Period Roll Call Sunday Morning

Members of Co. A, 129th infantry, United States Army, who are under mobilization at the state armory here awaiting entrainment for Camp Forrest, Tenn., where they are due March 20, were given leaves at noon today until 6 o'clock Monday morning, their only militia activity in the interim being response to roll call at the armory at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, Commanding Officer First Lieutenant Wayne Wolfe announced today.

Lt. Wolfe also stated that the processing of the company was completed Thursday afternoon by the induction board, and he announced the promotion of three sergeants—Orin Peterson, Kenneth Rodesch and Robert Meppin—to become second lieutenants.

99 Men, 5 Officers

Nine members of the company were rejected by the examining board sent here for the processing of the company, and Lt. Wolfe will take 99 men and five commissioned officers to Camp Forrest, where the organization will be brought to full time war strength by the addition of selectees under the selective service act.

The soldiers are under strict military regulations at the armory, eating their meals and sleeping there and drilling four hours each morning and afternoon. Guards are on duty every hour of the day and night, as in a military camp, and the troops are being prepared in every way for the life they will lead in Camp Forrest, where, according to dispatches from Washington Friday afternoon they may remain eighteen months or two years, instead of the one year originally planned by the army.

Heaviest Snow in Years Covers East

(By The Associated Press)
The heaviest snowstorm in years today blanketed the Atlantic seaboard from Virginia to Maine, in some places piling up as much as 16 inches of wet fluff to equal the great snowfall of the famous March 10 blizzard of 1888.

Delaware, New Jersey, eastern Pennsylvania and southern New York bore the brunt of the fall. From this local point the snow tapered off with lighter deposits in the Virginia Capes country and the main coastal area.

Travel by land, sea and air was impeded and no respite was in sight for more than 24 hours. The weather bureau forecast light snow in the New York area continuing tomorrow.

At least four deaths were attributed to the storm. A man in Maryland died in a skidding automobile. A man in New Jersey was killed in a traffic collision. In New York City one man was fatally injured and his wife hurt when, blinded by the storm, they walked into the path of an automobile. In upstate New York, a man died when he jumped from a skidding car.

By mid-morning, the central coastal area saw sleet and rain take the place of snow at intervals. Teing conditions made travel hazardous. Primary traffic arteries throughout the storm area remained open, but many secondary roads were closed.

He also dismissed charges against the youths of failure to register.

Republicans Make Strong Comeback in St. Louis Vote

St. Louis, March 8.—(AP)—Making a strong comeback which enabled them to outdraw the dominant Democrats by 14,513 votes Republicans yesterday nominated William Dee Becker, 64-year-old former St. Louis Appellate Court judge, to oppose Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann's third term bid at the April 1 city election.

While Dickmann was gaining Democratic renomination handily over two opponents, Becker defeated William E. Buder, young attorney, by a 7,685 plurality in a hot four-cornered battle for the GOP mayoralty bid.

Becker, who charged Dickmann's city hall organization played a part in delaying the inauguration of Republican Governor Forrest C. Donnell, polled 45,918 votes to 37,333 for Buder.

They far outdistanced the other GOP candidates—Walter J. G. Neun, former president of the board of aldermen, and J. Harry Pohlman, school board member—who received 7,428 and 5,690 votes, respectively.

The announcement did not give the date of Matsuoka's expected arrival.

The official announcement said Matsuoka's visit was for "personal deliberations on all questions arising from collaboration as set forth in the three powers pact between Germany, Italy and Japan."

Following the Berlin talks the Japanese foreign minister is going to Rome.

Leaders to Force Vote Today on Aid- to-Britain Measure

Passage by 2 to 1 Vote Predicted; Final Day of Debate

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—The administration's senate leadership, confident after a series of victories on test ballots, expressed determination today to drive the historic British aid bill to final passage by nightfall.

Approval by a vote of 2 to 1 was predicted.

The powerful administration forces knocked down 12 proposed amendments yesterday and last night, and, when the senate concluded an 11-hour session shortly before 10 p. m. (9 p. m., C. S. T.) leaders declared they were on "the straight road to passage."

Only two amendments were approved in the course of the long meeting. One, presented by Senator Ellender (D-La.) as an administration compromise on the issue of sending troops abroad, provided that nothing in the aid bill should change existing law regarding movements of land and naval forces. The vote was 65 to 24. Critics called the provision "meaningless."

Technical Amendment

The other, put forward by Senator Clark (D-Mo.), an opponent of the legislation, was written in on a voice vote after Majority Leader Barkley had termed it acceptable to the administration. It substituted the words "transfer title to" for the word "transfer" in a section empowering the president to supply defense articles to other nations. Proponents of the bill said the change was more or less technical.

At least one major controversy remained to be settled today. It was over an amendment by Senator Walsh (D-Mass.) which Walsh said would prohibit "giving away the navy."

There was a possibility, too, that Senator Taft (R-Ohio) would seek a showdown on his substitute proposal to lend Britain, Canada and Greece a total of not more than $2,000,000,000. Taft contended a loan program would be a simple way to aid warring "democracies" without conferring extraordinary powers on the president.

The Walsh amendment would forbid the transfer to another nation of any naval vessel or aircraft which could not be replaced "by better or more satisfactory craft within a period of three months."

Delaware's Blue Laws on Way Out

Wilmington, Del., March 8.—(AP)—Adoption of a bill repealing Delaware's 188-year-old blue laws presented the state today with a liberalized substitute—which if signed into law—would give local municipalities the power to enact their own statutes regulating Sabbath activities.

The measure—passed by both Houses of the Delaware General Assembly last night at Dover—awaited the signature of Governor George W. Bacon before it becomes effective. Bacon said today he probably would not see the bill until he goes to Dover Monday.

Passage of the repealer brought word from Attorney General James R. Morford that his campaign to enforce the ancient Sunday laws was ended and that all cases of violators now pending in state courts would be dismissed.

Morford had directed strict enforcement of the old laws and last Sunday 493 persons—including milkmen, drug store operators, bus drivers, and service station attendants—were arrested for engaging in "worldly employment" on the Sabbath.

Over Quarter Million Children to Change Schools Because of Defense

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—More than a quarter-million children will have to change schools because of population movements resulting from the defense program, army and navy authorities said today in asking Congress for $115,000,000 to help local school boards meet the problem.

A survey made by the federal Commissioner of Education and accepted by the war and navy departments found that schooling must be provided for 120,700 children who now live or will reside soon at army posts, naval bases and other non-taxable federal reservations.

The survey estimated further that educational facilities must be provided for 143,707 other children not on federal reservations.

End of Greek-Italian War Without Invasion Aim of Nazi Efforts

The War Today!

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

The power to sway the balance in the Balkan crisis rests with Turkey, and her decision will have a vital influence on the outcome of the whole European war.

Greece might fall, and Yugoslavia be compelled to acquiesce in Hitler's southward sweep, but if the Turks hold to their alliance with Britain and stand astride the Dardanelles, the Anglo-allied cause isn't likely to suffer irreparable disaster in that theater of war.

This would bar the Nazi way to the Near East—to the Suez canal and Egypt on the one hand, and to the brimming oil wells of Iraq and Iran on the other. In short, so long as Turkey remains firm, Britain probably can retain her domination of the eastern Mediterranean.

Should the Turks by any chance go over to the Germans, however, it might mean the loss of the battle of the Mediterranean for the British. And that, next to defeat in the battle of Britain, would be about as great a catastrophe as could happen to the Anglo-allies.

Herr Hitler today continued to swing his mechanized forces into position along the Greek border, but held them in leash while his diplomats made an eleventh hour attempt to achieve the Nazi program by pressure of words instead of launching the battle which the fuhrer is trying to avoid.

Little Greece

Little Greece was being put through the third degree in an effort to make her kneel to the Roman might which she already has beaten. Both Yugoslavia and Turkey were being worked on by some of the cream of Nazi diplomacy to bring them into the axis fold.

Not even the expert observers on the ground could be sure of the way the contest was going. It was evident that all three of these badgered Balkan states were in spirit against giving in to Berlin, but only time would tell whether the flesh was strong enough for resistance. The Turks and Greeks were talking fight, and Yugoslavia was talking talk.

The Turks should be able to put up a very strong defense in event of Nazi aggression. The Bulgarian border not only is protected by mountains, but is strongly fortified. To the south, between the European and Asiatic Turkey, runs the Dardanelles, one of the most powerful strategic positions in the world. This, too, is heavily fortified.

Turkey has a well-trained and modernized army of a million ready to fling into battle. She has a reserve force of perhaps another million. Beyond that there is a potential reserve of possibly three millions of able-bodied men.

By the way, Turkish women also are subject to military draft the same as men, between the ages of 16 and 60. Thus, counting the women, the Turkish potential reserves are some seven millions.

The Turkish army isn't largely mechanized. The ordinary infantry equipment is good, and reasonably supported with artillery. One possible weakness, as I discovered when I was in Turkey two years ago, might result from the fact that many of the arms and their ammunition have been provided by Germany.

Whether the Turks could secure ammunition and parts for these (Continued on Page 6)

Syracuse, N. Y., March 8.—(AP)—George H. Reals, 52, Alton, O., and Charles H. Reals, 50, Syracuse, struck up an acquaintance in a hotel. It wasn't until after they started talking that they found they were brothers, separated 32 years ago.

Four-Lane Chicago-to-Rock Island Highway is Newest Proposal

A four-lane defense super-highway from Rock Island to Chicago, one of the latest suggested highway developments to be made known here, was held in Moline Thursday afternoon, which was attended by representatives from Henry, Bureau and LaSalle counties, who discussed the proposed defense highway from Rock Island to Chicago.

It is reported that those behind the movement have suggested a four-lane super highway to be located about half-way between routes 6 and 92. The proposed route would extend east from the tri-cities in almost a straight line to Troy Grove in LaSalle county and then follow route 52 east to route 66, a short distance west of Joliet. The highway would then proceed north and northeast on route 66 to Chicago.

It was suggested that federal funds might be provided for the construction of the proposed super route, and a meeting with Walter Rosenfield, state director of public works and buildings, is planned for the near future.

Army Poised, Ready to Force Issue: Other War News

(By The Associated Press)

A hint of tightening cooperation between Japan and her European axis partners came today in an official German announcement that Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka would reach Berlin shortly for "personal deliberations on all questions arising from collaboration as set forth in the three-powers pact."

Dispatches from Tokyo said that Maj. Gen. Eugen Ott, German ambassador to Japan, has started home to Berlin alone. No date was given for Matsuoka's trip.

One suggestion for Matsuoka's visit to Berlin and also Rome was that the axis might be contemplating formulation of a common program of action against Britain and the United States, both in Europe and the Far East.

The possibility also was suggested that Japan is loath to participate actively in the war against Britain and wishes to explain her position to Adolf Hitler.

Air Attacks Resumed

Three Nazi bombers were reported shot down today in dogfights off the English coast as the Luftwaffe resumed its attacks on Britain after a night of comparative quiet.

The German high command said a Nazi submarine and speedboats had sunk two British destroyers and 11 armed merchantmen totaling 61,400 tons in attacks on convoys. The submarine accounted for five vessels, totalling 33,000 tons, the communiqué said, and the speedboats sank six merchantmen, including two tankers, all totalling 28,400 tons, and the destroyers as well.

The Italian high command reported that a new British attack on the besieged garrison at Giarrub has been repulsed and said Italian planes had bombed the British-held Libyan port of Benghazi, a British air base and a column of British motor trucks.

Germans in Morocco

In Madrid the press published a dispatch from Casablanca declaring that groups of German officers believed to number more than 100 had arrived in French Morocco to observe the application of armistice terms. These officers, the dispatch said, will "control French Morocco's administrative life, economy and politics in all matters directly or indirectly related to the war and armistice."

Balkan observers

Intimated meanwhile that Germany's price for staying a threatened attack on Greece would cost the Greeks every hard-won mile of their gains against Italy and return their troops within their old frontiers.

German diplomats were said by some sources to have promised Greece that she could retain all her territory she held before October 28, when the Italians first attacked, if she would sign a peace giving Premier Mussolini a "paper victory" in Albania.

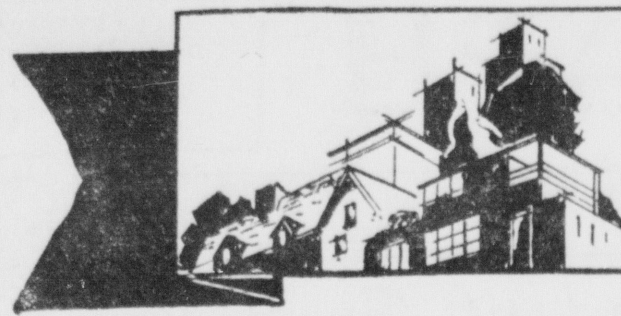

Greeks Battle On

But despite 150,000 Nazi soldiers poised for action on the Greek-Bulgarian border, the Greeks battled grimly on in central Albania.

Greek diplomatic sources at Sofia declared flatly yesterday their country would "fight any German invasion."

Foreign sources in Athens said without confirmation that Gen. Ugo Cavallero had been superseded as Italian commander by Gen. Carlo Geloso in another shakedown of the Italian command, but it was not clear whether General Geloso was named only to command the Italians in Albania

MODERNIZATION

INSULATION SAVES In Many Ways

Most of us can remember the old, drafty, barn-like houses built before the age of insulation. Nowadays conditions have changed and no house needs be drafty or cold because insulation, has really changed those conditions to the betterment of every house.

Not only is insulation important, but the better fitting windows are also of value.

Insulation is a material that acts as a barrier to heat and cold. In the summer time it keeps the heat from entering through the roof and walls of a house; likewise in the winter time it acts as a barrier for the cold breezes.

There are several types of insulation. There is a broad type which may be secured in a number of thicknesses and applied to the outside of the stud walls of a house or on the inside of the walls and used as a plaster base. It may also be used on the roof if desired.

Then there is the blanket type of insulation in which an insulating material is confined between two thicknesses of heavy Kraft paper and is tacked in between the studs and rafters and packed in around the crevices of a house.

The fill type is a material that is poured in between the studs and rafters. The bats are small sections of insulation material secured to a heavy paper and nailed in between the studs or rafters.

Insulation not only gives more comfort to a house but it saves on fuel and also makes possible a smaller heating plant. There are no extremes of changes in temperature with insulation; the change comes gradually.

In the average home it has been estimated that about 43% of the heat loss is through the doors and windows. The balance of 57% is through the walls and roof, with the great percentage through the roof. This you can prove to yourself if you notice the snow-covered roofs of the homes near you in winter. Where there is no insulation, the snow melts quickly, due to heat loss from the rooms below. Where insulation is used, the snow does not melt.

So the roof of your home can tell a story of thrift or waste—

KITCHEN DESK

A table or desk in a kitchen is a very convenient accessory. Here the kitchen desk is arranged near the refrigerator—with a light over the desk and the phone easily accessible.

of economy and comfort, or of extravagance in use of fuel.

Thus insulation offers a manifold advantage to a house. It not only offers comfort for both summer and winter, but it also saves in costs and upkeep.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q. I plan to landscape a small Cape Cod cottage this spring. What size of shrubs should I use?

A. Select shrubs which will not be too large. Low shrubs add to the apparent size of the house. Taller shrubs may be planted around the doorway to accent this feature. Use care in selecting the type of shrub since some require constant trimming and pruning to keep the size down to that desired.

Q. Can you tell me the purpose of cross-bridging between wood joists? How should bridging be installed?

A. Bridging provides a means of laterally bracing wood joists. It also assists in distributing the weight or load imposed on one joist to the joists on either side of it. Joists should be bridged at least every eight feet. One-inch by three-inch material is usually used, the end cut at an angle to fit solidly against the face of the joist. To be effective, cross-bridging must be securely nailed in place.

Q. What is the purpose of a storm window?

A. Storm windows create a deadair space in front of the permanent window sash. This air space tends to reduce heat loss through the glass area and the infiltration of cold air. Storm windows are especially helpful in preventing the frosting of windows, since they reduce the possibilities of condensation on the inner windows. To insure good protection, storm sash should fit tightly. When hung from the top on hinges or other hangers, a device should be provided so that the window may be held open when ventilation is desired.

SUPPLIES FOR BATH FIXTURES

The problem of cleaning the bathroom floor is simplified if the supply and waste pipes for the lavatory come through the wall and not the floor. All pipes should preferably go between joists and not through them, to avoid cutting and thus lessening their strength.

NO LOCKS

In houses where there are little children, the thumb bolts on bathroom doors should be of the type that can be opened from the outside with a key.

About 1,500,000 electric fans are sold annually in the U.S.

Home Style Blending Vital

When building a new home the buyer should choose an architectural style similar or suitable to that of other houses in the immediate vicinity.

To be considered as a part of the whole community rather than as a separate and distinct entity, the design selected for the house should conform in general to the design of the other houses in the immediate neighborhood.

To illustrate, Federal Housing Administration officials say that because nine-tenths of the houses in a block are Cape Cod cottages it would be necessary for the home builder to select a Cape Cod cottage. It does not mean, however, that if the majority of the houses are unpretentious and informal in design, the architectural style of the house should be simple and restrained.

Conversely, if the majority of the houses in the community are pretentious, sophisticated, and formal, it would be unwise to choose to build a Mexican farmhouse, a Cape Cod cottage, or some other informal house.

PAINT

A house owner who is considering the painting of his property sometimes is in doubt whether to use ready-mixed paint or paint mixed to order. Good paint is good whether ready mixed or mixed to order. Vice versa, bad paint is bad!

The purchaser's main safeguard is to purchase standard goods of known reliability, whether he buys ready-mixed in cans or white lead, zinc, oil and colors to be mixed by his painter.

Owners are sometimes influenced, when purchasing paint or ingredients, by price but first economy is likely to prove costly. A brand of white lead costing a few cents per pound less than some other well known brand may be inferior in quality. It may have received less grinding, it frequently contains a larger percentage of foreign matter. Also one can pay different prices for linseed oil, boiled oil being more expensive than raw oil and the former producing a better paint job.

TO GET MORE HEAT FROM FIREPLACE

If you are putting in a new fireplace in the basement rumpus or recreation room, it would be advisable to install a double walled steel form in the masonry construction around which the fireplace is built. There are openings in the front of the device at floor and over shelf through which the cold air is drawn off the floor, heated and then the heated air escapes into the room. Rapid and even heating is possible, and this equipment adds but little to the cost of the fireplace and does save much heat and provides extra warmth for chilly days.

OLD BASEMENTS REVIVED

Playroom Is Valuable Addition to the Modern Home

Th long neglected basement is coming back to life. Many home owners throughout the country are transforming this space which in the past has been little used into an attractive playroom or recreation room or into living quarters. These transformations have been made possible by the new types of heating equipment now on the market which eliminate dirt and dust and free much of the space formerly used by fuel storage to be used for other purposes.

Many small homes have a hot air system of heating and with the old-fashioned furnaces the pipes are a hindrance in converting the basement into an attractive room but nowadays with the new air-conditioning plants, the pipes may be close to the ceiling, thereby freeing much of the basement space for the recreation or play room.

Improvements to the basement can now be made under the terms of the Federal Housing Act. The first step in building a modern basement is, of course, a solid

LINOLEUM DESIGNED FOR MANY USES

Linoleum has many uses besides that of flooring the kitchen and the bathroom. It is a material which adapts itself readily to large patterns and can be cut and fitted by anyone who is careful in the use of the knife.

For instance, the small entrance vestibule might well be floored with linoleum with a field of gray and a border of four to six inches of black or blue as a contrast.

In addition, there are now stars and other designs which may be inserted in the field by cutting out the linoleum and placing the decorative piece therein, sealing with linoleum cement.

Patterned Woods Aid Floor Problem

Whether one is building a new home or modernizing an old one, the selection of floors and floor coverings is perplexing. Various processes have been developed to combine design, durability, and economy.

Popular among these is patterned hardwood, which permits individuality in floor design and at the same time gives a durable hardwood surface. Available in a variety of goods, the patterned hardwood floors are scientifically finished, waxed, and polished at the factory.

Can Your Roof Take The Weather Changes

Roofing manufacturers' biggest job has always been to perfect a long wearing material that can stand up under "weather changes," for it's the weather changes that really put a roof to the test. That's why the manufacturers of MULE-HIDE Roofs developed Cor-Du-Roy.

The corrugations in MULE-HIDE Cor-Du-Roy serve as "expansion joints" which permit the roof to expand and contract with changes in temperature with as little wear and strain as possible. Let us demonstrate this new MULE-HIDE development to you before you buy your next roof. Phone 57 today. We will be glad to send a representative to show you samples right in your own home.

Granddaughter of John Deere Gives Girl Scouts Camp

Mrs. William Butterworth of Moline, whose grandfather, John Deere, was a pioneer plow manufacturer at Grand Detour, and Mrs. F. J. (Dr. Mabel) Otis are donors of a 119-acre tract of land between Rapids City and Port Byron to Moline Girl Scouts for a camp.

The tract consists of a beautiful area of rolling, wooded ground, boasting hills, brooks, and ravines, as well as a sweeping view of the Mississippi river. A house, cottage and several farm buildings are located on the site. These buildings will be remodeled and other improvements will be made so that the camp will be available for use this summer.

The tract is rich in Indian lore. One of its hills, known as Signal Hill, is said to have been used by the Indians more than a century ago. Indian mounds have been discovered a short distance away.

Announcement of the gift comes at an appropriate time, as next week, Girl Scouts throughout the United States will observe the twenty-ninth anniversary of the founding of the movement by Mrs. Juliette Low at Savannah, Ga., on March 12, 1912.

Polo Woman Reaches 93

Mrs. Martha (Grandma) Billig

"Grandma" Billig quietly celebrated her ninety-third birthday yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Esterly on West Dixon street in Polo, where she has resided for some time.

The aged woman was born in Montgomery county, Maryland, March 7, 1848, a daughter of David and Mary (Hill) Stover. Her father, who was a blacksmith, died when she was four years old.

She was 19 when she came west by train with her mother and a cousin, Henry Good. When Mr. Good returned to his farm in the east, Mrs. Stover and her daughter went to live with another daughter, Mrs. Mary Wolfensberger, at Haldane. Later, they made their home in Forreston with Mrs. Stover's son, Milton, who was also a blacksmith.

In 1886, Martha Ellen became the bride of Cyrus Billig in a ceremony solemnized at the home of the bridegroom's parents, west of Haldane, where the couple went to housekeeping. Mr. Billig, a school teacher and farmer, died in 1922.

Mrs. Billig is the last of a family of nine children.

Brantner-Hecker Wedding Will Be Solemnized Today

About 25 Dixon relatives and friends will witness this afternoon's nuptial ceremony in which Miss Kathryn Anna Hecker, only daughter of the Ernest J. Hecker of rural route 3, will exchange vows with Harold Aubrey Brantner, only son of the Jesse D. Brantners of 971 Third street. The Rev. Clinton Stauffer, pastor of the Polo Brethren church, will hear the vows at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents.

A large white wedding bell—used in decorating the William Gleim home near Ashton for the marriage of the bride's parents 25 years ago—will be part of the decorative background for today's ceremony. Coral and white gladioli, together with ferns and palms will complete the nuptial setting.

The nuptial musicians will be the bride's cousin, Miss Donna Jean Yeck of Sterling, and Miss Mary Jean Hake. Miss Hake will sing two solos, "O Promise Me" and "Because," accompanied at the piano by Miss Yeck.

Flowers from the veil which Miss Hecker's grandmother, Mrs. Anna Hecker, wore as a bride 50 years ago, will be worn in the coiffure of this afternoon's bride, and at the neckline of her beige crepe dress will be a gold brooch set with onyx, which belonged to her great-grandmother, Fulfs. Miss Hecker has selected brown accessories for her bridal attire, and her shoulder corsage will contain pink roses with white sweetpeas. Mr. Hecker will give his daughter in marriage.

The couple's only attendants will be Mr. Brantner's sister, Mrs. George Woodbridge (Vivian Brantner), and the bride's brother, Kenneth Hecker. Mrs. Woodbridge will be dressed in dusty rose with a corsage of white sweetpeas.

Mrs. Hecker will be attired in marsh rose crepe for her daughter's wedding, and her corsage will contain white carnations. Pink carnations will be worn at the shoulder of Mrs. Brantner's navy blue dress.

An informal reception will follow the ceremony, with Mrs. Melvin Hake, and Mrs. Paul Yeck of Sterling assisting with the serving. A miniature bridal pair will decorate the topmost tier of the pink and white bridal cake.

After the reception, Mr. Brantner and his bride will leave for Evanston to spend the week end with the bride's great-aunt, Mrs. Mary Anderson. When they return to Dixon, they will be at home at 921 Ottawa.

Both Miss Hecker and Mr. Brantner were graduated from Dixon high school with the class of '38. She is employed as bookkeeper at the Blue Ribbon Distributing company, and he is shipping clerk at Beier's Bakery.

Gladys Renner and Earl Gettle Wed at Walnut

Her grandmother's pearls were the traditional "something old" for Miss Gladys Renner, eldest daughter of the Harry Renner of Walnut, when she became the bride of Earl Gettle, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gettle, in a nuptial ceremony solemnized at 10 o'clock Friday morning at the Christian church in Walnut. The Rev. Dewey C. Kooy performed the single ring service at 10 o'clock.

The bride's floor-length gown of white pendesone, was designed on princess lines. Her veil was also floor-length, and at her shoulder was a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Her bridesmaid was her sister, Miss Verle Renner, who was dressed in pink silk marquisette, accented by a corsage of snapdragons. Cyril Heitzler of Hoopole was best man for his brother-in-law.

Potted plants and ferns decorated the church for the ceremony. Miss Eleanor Sample was soloist, singing "Oh Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly." Mrs. John Foss, Jr. played a wedding march, as members of the bridal party took their places before a decorated archway.

A wedding luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents for 40 guests. A three-tiered cake, topped with a tiny bridal pair, was the center decoration at the bride's table. The Misses Opie Conley and Alice Allen, both of Sterling, assisted at the pink and white tables.

When Mr. Gettle and his bride left later on a wedding trip to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, the new Mrs. Gettle was wearing a travel suit of beige wool with fur trim and brown accessories.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actually see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

Rickenbacker and Air Castles

Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker is in critical condition because of injuries incurred when one of his Eastern Air Lines transport planes crashed in Georgia. The crash, as in any such catastrophe, is regrettable, but it serves to focus attention on some predictions and observations made by the famous World War ace which appear, with what one might call a stroke of Fortune, in the current issue of Fortune magazine.

Captain Rickenbacker is president of the Eastern Air Lines. He is, certainly "air minded." We doubt that the crash of one of his planes has altered his views as to the bright future of the aviation industry. As a medium of information, we pass along to you some of his observations as recorded in Fortune.

"If we start mapping our program now, the aviation industry will do more for the United States than the automobile industry, as far as the national economy is concerned.

"We're now just getting into the silk-shirt era, and you're going to see more spending and borrowing and extravagance than you ever dreamed of. That won't last. When we went into World War I, we were solvent, and so were the other countries. Today they're all busted, and at the rate we're spending it won't be long before we'll be, too. You can make your own guess about how much we'll be in hock when this thing is over. At any rate, after we've run through the silk-shirt era and the armistice is signed and the war orders suddenly are cut off, you'll see a collapse that will make 1932 seem like wild prosperity. There's only one way of heading off that collapse, and that is to start now, today, planning how we are going to expand our air-transport industry so that it can take up the slack after the war. If we do get things under way, we will train and employ not 50,000 but half a million pilots before we get through . . . we will educate close to 2 million men in aircraft manufacture, maintenance and operation. When we do this, we will make aviation the kingpin in the U. S. economy, and we will raise the standards of culture, knowledge and ability of the people. The automobile raised it before. The airplane will carry us further, and will make us the greatest people the world has ever seen."

Captain Rickenbacker points out that at the end of the World War the government found itself with a big supply of airplanes, which were sold by auction, and which led to a paralysis of aircraft manufacturing and a "good deal of barnstorming and generally irresponsible private flying that brought aviation into temporary disrepute." At the end of the present war he foresees a comparable situation, but with tens of thousands instead of hundreds of idle ships for which use must be found.

His solution is the utilizing of these planes in a vast program of commercial flying—for which, he says, America must now prepare. Here are some of his suggestions:

Turn over to the airlines the job of carrying most first class mail—380,000,000 pounds a year.

Use the airplane for carrying practically all travelers and an increasing percentage of express and freight, even heavy freight on long hauls.

These uses, he believes, will result in active daily service for at least 50,000 planes. He advises railroads to forego passenger and mail service, and concentrate on freight.

He foresees, too, concurrent with expansion of the transport industry, a gradual development of private flying, up to a point where small planes will be so numerous that they'll have to have a system of red and green lights to regulate traffic. He forecasts simplification and standardization of airplane design and better education of the public about flying. And he talks of a dirigible perhaps a mile in length, which would continuously circle the earth and stay aloft as long as five years at a time—a floating palace with dance floors, movies and so on. Truly, a "castle in the air." And, perhaps Captain Rickenbacker's predictions are accurate. Time will tell.

A Century of Parole

Parole is so firmly established as a part of our police-and-court system that it is hard to realize that only 100 years ago a man accused of even slight offenses was either acquitted, fined, or sent to prison.

It was in 1841 that John Augustus, Boston shoemaker-philanthropist first "bailed out" and took under his friendly supervision a prisoner who was thus placed under what we now call probation.

Since then the probation system has advanced to constitute what Roscoe Pound, former Harvard Law School dean, called "the greatest forward step in criminal jurisprudence in a century."

Like any other element of government probation doesn't work unless it is honestly and capably administered. But the number of offenders rehabilitated under its guidance in the past 100 years is undoubtedly very great. The National Probation Association with its 17,000 members, does well to remind citizens of this centennial this year in furtherance of their object, "to strengthen interest and understanding between citizens and their courts."

On January first a lot of people wished all the swallows had gone south.

The world is full of neighbors who will borrow everything but the baby.

News Behind THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, March 6. While everyone has been talking about reorganizing the defense set-up, Roosevelt has been doing it. Without announcement he sent a letter February 25 to his administrative Assistant William H. McReynolds, breathing official power into an old forgotten bureau, known as the Office of Emergency Management. It was not in the form of an executive order, which would have to be issued for publication, but it had the same effect.

McReynolds was instructed to establish the O. E. M. as an overall defense agency to handle money and personnel. He was told to employ such persons as necessary to maintain "a central budgetary, accounting and fiscal control system" for the Knudsen-Hillman outfit, the OPM, and for all over defense agencies, which it now develops, were supposed to be under OEM all the time. Those affected included parts of the National Defense Advisory Council, the Housing Coordinator, the Rockefeller Coordination for Latin American Commercial and Cultural Relations, Paul McNutt's Defense Health Bureau and some others.

But McReynolds is not to handle over all policy. The February 25 letter merely put a tent over the defense bureaus in preparation for the next step. It will be the establishment under OEM also, of a new policy commission to be composed presumably of Harry Hopkins and interested cabinet officers such as Morgenthau, Stimson, Knox and Percha Wickard.

This new policy commission will administer the lease-lend program, deciding what is to go to Britain and how.

The OEM, of course, is nothing by a McReynolds-Roosevelt, a counterpart of the twinheaded Mr. Knudsen-Hillman who is running the Office of Production Management. The move will serve simply to draw up all the reins of the defense program into Roosevelt's hands, with McReynolds acting as coachman. Or as officials describe it, it is to be an overall tent.

This new big tent over defense was created as a sideshow away back in September 1939 in a reorganization program. McReynolds carried it around in his pocket until last January 7 when the president instituted the OPM under its jurisdiction, a detail which has been overlooked by all.

It is not now intended to come between the president and Knudsen. According to the only authorities, who could speak for the president on this with authority, Knudsen, with or without his twin Hillman is to continue to deal directly with FDR on all matters except routine money and personnel.

But the new policy committee is to be established alongside Knudsen. While his job is production, the coming new creation is to have the job of distributing the production.

This is the detailed pattern which follows the outline exclusively presented in this column February 6. Unless its additional details contain some bugs, it would seem to furnish an equalized basis upon which new dealers and business men may work efficiently and amicably.

Most serious aspect of the lease-lend dispute is not what is being said openly in the senate, but the dirty stuff developing outside.

This is leaving stains which will not wash out when the bill is passed.

Only official aspect of the ink-smearing has been contributed by Interior Secretary Ickes who personally convicted several people including a world war hero of the crime of treason for publicly opposing administration policy. If it has become treasonous for anyone to oppose the administration, we are wasting our money defending ourselves against Hitler and the nazi system because, in that case, we already have a nazi system and a Hitler. But as everyone knows Gauleiter Ickes is not as official or as serious as he sounds.

Possibly worse is the maniacal scourging of Wheeler, Bennett Clark, Hiram Johnson and other good dissenting American senators who dared to speak their minds openly. An administration newspaper in New York has, for instance, covered its front page with half a dozen vague similarities in thought between isolated expressions by Hitler and Senators Wheeler and Holman, in the yellowest attempt at modern smear-journalism that has yet developed outside Germany.

In my time, I saw the late great Senator Robert LaFollette, senior, beaten down by such beastly fury to the edge of the grave for opposing the last war. He lived long enough to run for president, supported by some of these very ink-smearers of today, including Ickes and Senator Wheeler was LaFollette's vice-presidential running mate in that campaign.

There should be a law against any one calling himself a liberal until he acts like one.

MARY A. EATINGER

(Contributed)

Mary Amretta Eateringer was born, Aug. 13, 1859. She was the daughter of Isabelle and Jacob Martin of Gap Grove, where she spent her entire life. She was united in marriage to Wallace A. Eateringer on June 23, 1909. She leaves to mourn her passing, two brothers, Frank of Tribune, Kas. and Charles of Dixon. Her parents, four sisters and two brothers preceded her in death. Thank You Mr. G. T. Wruck

Chicago, March 3, 1941.

Mr. Louis Berrettini,
Dixon Fruit Company,
Dixon, Illinois.

Gentlemen:

"The United States is not one market, but a number of markets. The people of each economic area have different living habits with a resultant difference in purchasing power or inclinations. By furnishing the best available information on markets, business judgment will be better equipped to eliminating marketing waste."

Who said that?

Herbert Hoover.

When did he say it?

In 1924—when he was Secretary of Commerce.

Why did he say it?

Because he wanted American business including American advertising, put on as efficient a basis as possible.

Is what he said then, true today? Truer now than ever before.

Never before has it been so necessary to make the advertising dollar do a dollar's worth of work. Never before has it been so important for advertising to make itself thoroughly efficient.

Efficient advertising means concentrating your expenditures in the markets that offer you the biggest opportunities . . . and timing your efforts to meet those opportunities as they arise. Inefficient advertising . . . wasteful advertising . . . is spending money where and when you can't expect adequate returns.

Every market offers good opportunities for some advertisers. But some markets offer better opportunities for your products than others do . . . and better opportunities at certain times than at other times. Efficient advertising depends on two things . . . (1) the medium selected and (2) the way that medium is used. The most effective advertising medium for us at this time is newspaper space . . . because, more than any other medium, newspapers enable us to pick our markets and time our campaigns to meet constantly changing conditions, and market-by-market variations.

And with newspapers we can fully develop the opportunities in the markets selected . . . for with newspapers you get complete coverage of each market. Newspapers are published in their respective communities, for their respective communities. They are read by practically everybody in every community, not only for national and foreign news, but also for the local news . . . which can be found only in local newspapers.

At this time, no other medium can match the advantages of selectivity and flexibility and coverage offered by newspaper space. And no other medium can match it for quick, tangible results. Thousands of advertisers have discovered that for themselves.

And because of current business conditions, because right now there is such a sharp contrast in the opportunities offered by the far-flung markets of the country, these long-known advantages of newspaper advertising are more vital today than ever before.

And it is for these reasons that we are running newspaper advertising in your market. Another ad appears this week. Check up to be sure your men are merchandising it and you are getting all possible good from this activity.

Cordially yours,

GEORGE T. WRUCK,
Assistant Advertising Manager,
John F. Jelke Co.

SERIAL STORY

DRAFTED FOR LOVE

BY RUTH AYERS

COPYRIGHT, 1941,
NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: There is a dancing party for Ann on the eve of her wedding. But the congratulations Ann receives on the telephone and in person drum on April's ears. She tries to be gay April again, but her father senses a difference. Hal proposes again and April knows that she can never marry him. After he leaves she bursts into tears. Then suddenly, Ann and Kent are beside her.

ANN DISAPPEARS

CHAPTER XXIV

ANN followed April upstairs, her knock on the door imperative. "April!" she spoke her sister's name.

"Oh, Ann, don't mind me." April was struggling to pull herself together. She walked to the mirrored vanity and began to smear her mouth with lipstick.

"I think it's time we were truthful with each other," Ann said. Her voice was gentle. Her eyes, too, were the eyes of the real Ann, without steeliness or suspicion.

Ann went on, "I've guessed all along that you've been in love with Kent Carter since that time he came home on leave while I was away."

"Ann, you're being absurd." "No, not absurd, April, but frank. We love each other very much, April. We're not alike in all ways, but we're sisters, just the two of us, April. Lots of times I've envied you because you're beautiful and I'm not. I've resented you because you had all the admirers, the flowers, the dates. I've been jealous until it hurt. But Octavia said something tonight that expressed what I've always known deep down but haven't wanted to admit."

NAMED TO COMMITTEE

Athletic Director A. C. Bowers of Dixon high school has been chosen by the Illinois State Physical Education association as a member of the Mid-West association's fact-finding committee to aid in promoting legislation and preparedness. Four men are included on the committee of 14 with H. V. Porter, head of the National High School Athletic association as one of the members. Mr. Bowers will also serve as chairman of the Rock River division of outside contact field workers.

OFF TO CAMP (BASEBALL)

Louie Bevilacqua, Dixon's contribution to the minor leagues, left last night for Daytona Beach, Fla., where he goes into spring training with the Chattanooga baseball club of the Southern Association. The young hurler spent last night in Chicago visiting his sister, Miss Jilda Bevilacqua before heading south today. In Florida he will appear with the Chattanooga club in several exhibition games with major league teams.

OVER THERE

Eye witnesses from Dixon who saw the semi-final games at Sterling last night included: Harold Cook, Bob Johnson, Bernie Callahan, Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Worsley, Miss Rose Bevilacqua, Oscar Witzleb, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Witzleb, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rhoads, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kelly, Sr., John Shultz, Harold Dockery, Kenneth Barnhart, Miss Beth Atkinson, Frank Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roundy, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Castle, Mrs. C. B. Lindell, Mrs. Marvin Winger, Mrs. T. J. Miller, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. McNichols, Eddie Nagle, John Mitchell, Jack McGrail, Ray Holland and Dean McChrystal (to mention those we saw out of the corner of one eye.)

NO ONE LOSES; NO ONE WINS

A dead heat resulted in the weekly clash between the Franklin Grove and city hall cricbage teams last evening at the fire department headquarters. Captain Charles Kelly, who is recovering from a recent illness, accompanied his team and participated in some of the evening's play. At the close of the contest the pegs showed that each team had won 16 games and the advantage, if any, will be determined at a later session.

ON THE EVE OF THE BATTLE

We don't know what the hectic minutes of tonight's game will do to our well-groomed nervous system or that of the tournament hosts—but before we all spit in each other's eye, it might be well to record that the hosts have treated Dixon in sportsmanlike conduct throughout the current tournament. They have been good hosts and there hasn't been any concerted booing of the officials by any fans from any team. Of course there are a few gallery and sideline coaches, but what the heck, boys, what the heck? However, we hope the tournament comes back home next year.

HOME FOR THE WEEK END

Don Barnhart, physical education student at Iowa State university at Cedar Falls, is spending the week end here and will attend the Sterling-Dixon game tonight. He will return to his books and slide rules on Monday.

PAUL'S STATISTICS

The boy who is doing all the official statistical work at Sterling and which is to be turned in to the state athletic association is Paul Weyrauch and we are indebted to him for the figures we give you. For instance, according to Paul's records, Dixon made 17 of 68 shots last night. The Dukes sank five of 29 long ones and 12 of 39 short ones. They took 42 one-handed shots and made 12 and sank five of 26 two-handed shots. Rock Falls made nine of 49 shots. Of these they sank six of 27 long ones and three of 22 short ones. The Rockets swished six of 39 one-handed shots and three of 10 two-handed shots.

C. B. ON THE KEYS

Not only Suzanne dusts off the old piano, Coach C. B. Lindell tickled the ivories in the "backroom" of the coliseum last night. He's a good coach (to wit: his undefeated sophomores) but he sure as heck can't play the piano, fellows.

STERLING VS. DIXON—BUT THIS IS BOWLING

Dixon moves its sports parade to Sterling tonight where the high school basketball players will compete in the Regional tournament in the coliseum while in the same building 27 Dixon kieglers will compete in the Sterling Sweepstakes. Nine ladies will compete for Dixon and 18 men. At 7 o'clock Marie Dwyer, Anne Daschbach, Helen Klein, Luana Legore, Hazel Huyett and Lois McCordle will roll in the women's division of the sweeps while Leona Tilton, Mayme Miller and Luana Legore bowl at 10:20. The Dixon men scheduled to bowl at 7 o'clock are: R. Dwyer, F. Daschbach, W. Klein, R. Long, J. Johnson, W. Stewart, F. Randall, R. Wilbur and H. McCordle. At 10:20 A. Tilton, M. Miller, O. Legore, J. Miller, E. Worley, A. Wolfe, C. Davis, G. Jeanguenat and F. Lessner.

OPINION

Bernie Mitchell of the Rock Falls coach staff believes that Amboy may have one of the strongest football teams in the Rock River conference next year.

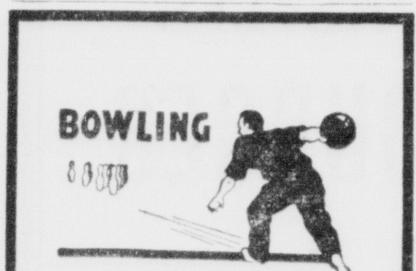

WAR AND ATHLETICS

When the boys in the backroom get together at the Sterling coliseum some of the talk naturally turns to the current international crisis—for one thing, the National Guard is billeted in the building and the idea pops up in spite of all the good basketball. Official Leland Stromborn of Sycamore last night had an original idea about the future: Says he—"Did you ever see a football team practice that didn't play a game?" Ho hum.

FRIDAY BOWLING LEAGUE KNOTTED WITH 2 IN LEAD

Three Quintets Sweep Series in Games Last Night

That battle for first place in the standings of the Major bowling league is getting serious. For the second week now two teams have held a share in the top spot and last night the Dixon Cafe and Sunnybrook quintets each had to win three games to stay aloft. The cafe five swept the series from the Blatz beer club with Ed Worley hitting the 600 count right on the nose to pace the winners. Maloney counted 430 to lead his mates. One-pin determined the winner of the third game with a count of 928 to 927.

The Sunnybrook five made decisive counts over the Dixon's Tavern quintet to win three. Leading the winners was Dwyre with a 590 score while Mattivi counted 512 for the losers.

Dixon Paint Wins Three

The third place Dixon Paint team won three games from Freeman Sjoes as the winners were led by Daschbach with a 593 count. Cramer rolled 488 for the shoe-men.

Spring Valley Trims Tigers to Win Crown

Spring Valley last night defeated Princeton 37 to 25, to claim the Mendota Regional tournament championship—but each team will continue next week in the sectional tournaments.

Princeton, a member of the North Central conference which finished in third place this season, trailed the champions, 12 to 3 at the end of the third period and although outscoring them in the second frame Spring Valley led 21 to 17 at the half.

The winners rolled up 16 points in the last two frames while holding the Tigers to 11.

Swan of the Princeton team was high scorer of the championship game with 11 points while Gedbillas led the losers with nine tallies.

Chicago Glovers to Battle New Yorkers March 26

Chicago, March 8—(AP)—Golden Gloves champions of the Midwest looked forward today to their next brief bid for glory in the ring—when the newly crowned winners meet the New York champions in the annual inter-city bouts here on March 26.

The Midwest champions, two of whom retained the titles they won in 1940, were crowned in Chicago stadium last night before a standing room throng of 21,650 spectators.

Harold Dade, Chicago negro, and little Richard Menchaca of Fort Worth, Tex., were the successful defenders, retaining the 112-pound and 118-pound diadems against stubborn opposition. Dade outpointed Paul Cardetta of Mansfield, Ohio, and Menchaca barely outlasted Ray Brown, Chicago negro.

Cleveland and Chicago shared major team honors, each contributing two champions. The Ohio metropolis was awarded a trophy for the best showing of any team outside Chicago. Kansas City rated second in this respect and Fort Worth, Tex., third.

Cleveland's Champions

Cleveland's two champions were Allen Aubrey, sure-hitting negro heavyweight, and George Horne, Jr., who put on a great imitation of a windmill in surviving his final fight with Robert Burns of Fort Wayne, Ind. Burns was awarded the Barney Ross sportsmanship trophy offered for welterweights.

In addition to Dade, Chicago's other individual titlist was Hezie Williams, fancy negro lightweight who outsmarted Ray Standifer, Kansas City, with a murderous left jab.

Kansas City, however, furnished the most colorful puncher in the field—red-haired Jack Haley, whose dynamite-loaded fists scored a semi-final knockout and then gave him a wide margin over Eddie Hudson of Moline, Ill., in the 126-pound finals.

Tommy Campbell of Moline won the title in the 135-pound division and Charles Hayes of Detroit was the 160-pound winner. Campbell received a letter from his mother in Kansas City immediately after his fight informing him a sister had died last Tuesday. The letter was marked "do not open until after the fight."

Tom Proctor, Oklahoma City heavyweight, didn't last long against Aubrey in the semi-finals, going down in a 26-second knock-out, but his performance in the sport won him the Joe Louis sportsmanship trophy.

Dukes Trim Rock Falls, 43 to 22, and Tournery Hosts Lash Amboy With Record Score to Set Stage for Classic Drama

Sellout Crowd Will Witness Climax of Three Game Series Tonight Between Co-Champions of The North Central Conference

GAMES LAST NIGHT

Dixon 43; Rock Falls 22.

Sterling 79; Amboy 23.

GAME TONIGHT

8:30—Dixon vs. Sterling.

All the world—for you, Uncle Horace, Aunt Minnie and all the kids—narrows down tonight to that tiny spot on this globe occupied by the coliseum building at Sterling where the Dixon and host basketball teams will battle for the current Regional tournament crown. Both the winner and runnerup will continue to the sectionals next week.

They did a lot of hustling and busting amid many changes of costume and scenery for three nights to set the stage for tonight's drama which features the co-champions of the North Central conference in act three of the season's play before a capacity crowd. As the climax nears, the uncertainty of the end has the fans of both teams chewing on their nails.

In a few hours the story will have been told, but in the lapse between last night's semi-finals and tonight's windup it's a lead-pipe cinch that cinch even the Dies committee can't figure this one out.

Rubber Game

Each team has defeated the other once this season, Dixon's victory was Sterling's only loss and in the rubber game tonight all statistics are no help under the strain of the traditional rivalry. All-too-sure fans of either team will recall that nightmare game here last year in which Dixon was considered to be a heavy favorite by virtue of the season's record. What happened then? Bingo, a spill that raised a welt on the Dixon team which is just now beginning to subside. Tonight the situation is reverse: Sterling, the host team, is the favorite—but who can predict with any certainty?

This much is true: IF the Dixon Dukes play as they can and to the best of their ability—they stand a good chance of taking the championship. The locals have demonstrated in season's games that they have a real basketball talent which includes, among other things, an unruffled pace which may serve them well in the hectic minutes of tonight's game. On the other hand, if they throw away their chances with bad passing and lack of teamwork, they will be submerged. They have only to remember the excellent formula of unity which they employed here to defeat Sterling earlier in the season and all will be pleasant in the dreams of the Dixon fans tomorrow night.

Games Last Night

Last night the two teams staged a dress rehearsal for the big show tonight in which Dixon defeated Rock Falls, 43 to 22, and Sterling rang up a record score of 79 to 23 to cram down the throats of the Amboy team.

Sterling fans put up a blood-thirsty cry for 80 points in the dying minutes of the game which resembled the hysteria of a tie contest. The Sterling warriors had their best war paint on, but they may be a little worn out by the pow-wow of last night and the point, just a little faded by the time tonight's game rolls around. There wasn't much Amboy could do in face of the attack and Sterling romped at will. Michel was high scorer for the Irish with five buckets and two character shots for 12 points.

Dixon, on the other hand, encountered stiffer resistance from Rock Falls, and it was only after the Dukes snapped out of their slow start that local fans could erase the thought of a possible upset. The slow-start of the locals is one of their chief faults and the team which gets the tipoff in points tonight, may well come out the winner.

In comparing the two teams in action last night, the Dixon boys matched favorably with the Sterling bone-crushers. Where Sterling was flashy and cock-sure, the Dukes seemed deliberate and determined.

Duhm Is High Scorer

In moving down Amboy in the second game of the semi-finals, every player on the Sterling team scored at least one point and Duhm led the charge with 15 tallies.

There were moments of bad passing in the Dixon-Rock Falls game, and the Dukes took 68 shots to make 17 which isn't such a hot percentage. They didn't always unite to work the ball in toward the basket, but the ability to do it is theirs. They'll need everything their bag of tricks contains tonight, but several times during the season these tricks have been good.

Too much recording of the semi-final games only pinches the sting of the losers who put

40 Pct. of School Teachers in Lee Paid Under $100

A study released by the Illinois Education Association shows that 40 per cent of the public school teachers of Lee county this year are receiving less than $100 per month taught. A total of 9,374 Illinois teachers, or 27 percent of the teachers, outside of Chicago, are receiving salaries below $100 per month. In some cases the annual salaries are as low as $400 or $33 per calendar month. One case has been reported in which the WPA cook employed to prepare hot lunches for the children is receiving more than the teacher.

"There is no excuse for such low salaries," according to Irving F. Pearson, executive secretary of the Illinois Education Association. "State equalization aid to schools now makes it possible for a county like Saline, with an assessed valuation of only $1,919 per elementary pupil, this year to pay 94 percent of the teachers $100 per month or more. Yet, Brown county, with a tax base of $7,330 per elementary pupil, is paying only 10 per cent of the teachers $100 per month or more."

Half Hundred New York City College Teachers Are Being Investigated

New York, March 8.—(AP)—Abraham Lincoln, Benjamin Franklin and Karl Marx would have been pictured as Fellow Travelers under an alleged scheme of 50 City College teachers to revamp American history to the Communist viewpoint.

This testimony, given by a history instructor yesterday before a legislative committee investigating subversive influences in the city's public school system, caused City College administrators to announce they would oust any faculty members found guilty of such activities.

The witness, William Martin Canning, who said he was a former secretary-treasurer of the Communist party on the City College campus, testified the faculty group intended to use its position to inculcate Communist doctrines into the minds of students.

Plenty of Weather Left
Early Settlers Guessing

In 1816, two years before Illinois became a state, sharp frosts occurred every month, according to accounts of the time, and "the year without a summer" became a popular descriptive term.

January and February, it seems, were rather mild, but March lived up to its reputation as a boisterous weather month, and April showers gave way to ice and "bitter cold", according to an account noted by the Illinois Writers' Project, W. P. A. Ice and snow were common in June, July and August.

As a result, crops were severely damaged and farmers had to pay four to five dollars a bushel for seed corn the following year.

Atlanta Operator
Guessed at Winds
Velocity, He Says

Atlanta, March 8.—(AP)—A municipal operator who said he "guessed" at the wind velocity for an ill-fated aerial sleeper began Friday the radiomen's report on last week's Eastern Airlines wreck which killed eight and injured eight.
Awaiting to testify were E. A.
L. radio operators from whose records Civil Aeronautic Board investigators hoped to get a clearer picture of the tragedy.
C. M. Pruitt, control tower operator at Candler field and an employee of the City of Atlanta, presented his radio log which showed visibility poor and wind velocity of about 10 miles per hour.
Replying to questions, Pruitt said he gave the plane the wind velocity as it passed Stone Mountain light near Atlanta shortly before midnight Feb. 26.
"I estimated the wind at 10 miles per hour—absolutely—guessed at it—because our anemometer was out of condition," he said.
The control tower operator declared the approach lights of a plane which landed shortly before the E. A. L. sleeper plane was due were visible at about 2,700 feet from the control tower but were partly obscured by a mist. Weather Bureau employees had estimated visibility at about a mile and a half.
Pruitt said he had no equipment to give barometric readings to incoming planes and added that the normal procedure is for planes to procure such information from their own contact stations.

Gems Lure Crowds After Lucky Lads Find Pearls

In 1890 two Illinois boys at Kappa found about 40 pearls in the Mackinaw river and the news of their good fortune started a "pearl hunting craze" in McLean, Taze-well, and Woodford counties adjoining the river. Two of the pearls, says the Illinois Writers' Project, W. P. A., brought an offer from buyers in Peoria, who were prepared to purchase more of the gems.

Chalk Artist at Church in Grand Detour Tomorrow

Phil Saint, youthful chalk artist of Wheaton college, will speak at the Christian church of Grand Detour tomorrow at 10:45 A. M. and 2:30 P. M.

Saint, in presenting his illustrated Gospel messages, uses chalk in all of his meeting. Carrying especially designed equipment, he obtains unusual blending of color effects in connection with his drawings by means of special electrical equipment including a three-unit rheostat. Speaking before cosmopolitan audiences, he has carried on this presentation throughout the south, east, and middlewest on a faith basis.

Although partially color blind, the young artist has been using his colored chalk talk illustrations as well as his own charts and paintings in evangelistic work for the past seven years. Having overcome his color handicap by means of a simple system of chalk arrangement, he has little difficulty in his presentations.

At present a student at Wheaton college, Phil is the son of the internationally known stained glass craftsman, Lawrence B. Saint.
 Phil's artistic heritage, however, extends further back, as his grandfather, James A. Saint, is the oldest living silhouette cutter in the country and still paints at the age of 85.

After being graduated from Lower Moreland high school,
 Pennsylvania, in 1930, Phil attended business college. Leaving there he became secretary to Herbert Johnson, famous cartoonist for the Saturday Evening Post. Saint sold his first cartoon to the Post in 1932.

Following a brief period of freelance drawing, he gave his full time to Christian service and contributed art work to a number of Christian publications. Among these were Revelation, Young People Today, and Christian Youth.

One of the milestones in Saint's cartoon accomplishments is "The World's First Christian Story
 Strip," which he presented in 1935.
 After appearing in several religious papers, the strip has now been published in one issue.

In 1937 Phil entered Wheaton College, where he is at present majoring in anthropology. While at Wheaton, besides maintaining a straight honor rating, Saint has twice been selected for Who's Who Among Students of American Universities and Colleges. He also served as art editor and cartoonist for the college annual, Tower of 41.
